In the Squared Circle.

Following a fortnight's armistice, giving former participants a chance to recover from the injuries to their feelings and elsewhere, the local boxing club held a session Saturday night. About 150 spectators were present, and about 148 of these were rooters.

Mr Joe Fitzpatrick, the 167-lb. boxer, who has just returned from a tour of the Coast cities, where he had a series of k.o's and decisions to his credit, was the attraction of the evening, engaging in bouts with two local men—Alec Zeiler and Geo Wolfe. These go's were well worth watching, as Joe's technique left nothing to be desired, and proved to be an eyeopener to a large number of the fans.

The other big doings was the three round bout between C Fuhr and C Hyrrykou, with the latter still suffering with a fractured digit on his south paw. In spite of this, Mr. H. kept his opponent busy — Conrad's good footwork keeping him from getting many a good smack on the beezer.

As usual, the juveniles were in excellent fettle—the two Gosset youths (Alan and Robert) against Ursel and Bill Gannon, putting on splendid exhibitions.

Among the others who took part were: Fred Goddard, Sam Gabel, G Davis, Art Davis, Walt Carmichael, Percy Smith, Henry Pailer, and the invincible Heinrich

Cause For National Gratification

Profound satisfaction will be felt by the people of Western Canada, in common with the rest of the world, in the successful outcome of the Five Power naval conference in London, England. That satisfaction is all the greater, and the feeling of relief more pronounced, because of the many predictions freely made during the progress of the conference that its results would be nil, and quite abortive in the realization of the hopes in which it was conceived.

Because there were many conflicting viewpoints to be reconciled, many difficulties to be overcome, and the conference ran on month after month, the pessimists told an anxiously awaiting world that nothing would be accomplished because nothing could be; that the nations were still so suspicious of each other that they were afraid to disarm in even the slightest degree; that the old game was still being played with each nation trying to get some advantage at the expense of others.

But with the signing of an agreement by the three greatest naval powers, and acceptance of a portion of the agreement by the next two naval powers, the dire prophecies of the pessimists have been proven foundationless. Instead, the splendid optimism, the unfaltering patience and courage of Ramsay MacDonald have triumphed, and a great forward step taken along the road to permanent world peace.

After a world war lasting more than four years, why should people have become discouraged and foreseen failure because a period of three months was required in discussion of the many knotty problems confronting the naval conference before a solution was found?

The British Commonwealth of Nations, the United States of America, and the Empire of Japan have found themselves whereby they undertake to reduce their naval armament and expenditures and voluntarily impose restrictions on themselves. The number, size and armament of ships of war is limited. And who, a few short years ago would have imagined it possible, all five powers agree that information will be given to each by all the others "of vessels it is building" in replacement of obsolete, abandoned and destroyed ships. This is not preparation for war, but for the maintenance of peace.

But the great achievement of the conference is not to be found so much in the actual reductions decided upon, or the limitations of actions voluntarily assumed, as it is in the established fact that the policy of friendly consultation between nations has been given an impetus which will undoubtedly grow. This more than anything else must fill the world with hope for the future.

The conference has also established beyond all possibility of dispute that, no matter how far the leaders of a nation may be prepared to go in the matter of disarmament, they can only proceed as far as public opinion at home will support them in going. The belief is general that the conference would have gone to even greater lengths in disarmament had the various representatives there felt assured of support at home, and that their very willingness to make concessions would not be used to overthrow the whole project when referred for final ratification by their national assemblies.

The great lesson of the conference for all peace-loving people is, therefore, the vital necessity of an awakened and informed public opinion in every land on the awful subject of war and preparation for war, rather than preparation for peace. Once again has it been demonstrated by this naval conference that no Government can move very far in advance of public opinion, no matter how laudable may be the motives by which it is inspired or praiseworthy the object sought to be attained.

It is the rank and file, the great mass of the people who must become peace-minded. It is the masses who must be informed and taught to shed their suspicions and animosities. The more ardent advocates of peace the peoples of all nations become, the more quickly will their recognized leaders and responsible statesmen write those wishes into solemn agreements and binding treaties.

Canadians, perhaps more than any other people in the world, have cause for thankfulness and rejoicing in the reaching of a naval understanding between the British Commonwealth, the United States and Japan. We are part and parcel of the British Commonwealth, while our nearest neighbors are the United States and Japan. With the former we have much in common, while with the latter by reason of our geographical position we must have ever increasing intercourse. Futhermore, any misunderstanding between the United States and Japan could hardly fail to react with injury to us. That all are in accord is cause for deep gratification in Canada.

Quality Of Canned Goods Must Be Marked On Label

Canada is the only country in the world so far to require the quality of canned goods to be clearly marked on the label so that the housewife can buy with the assurance that she is getting what she wants. Under the provisions of the Meat and Canned Foods Act, administered by the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, there are four quality grades: "Fancy," "Choice," "Standard," and "Second." "Always buy by the quality mark" is a slogan can now be applied to home buying with a real value.

OWES HER HEALTH TO PINK PILLS

This Weak Anaemic Woman Now Rejoices In Health and Strength

It is a scientific fact that nearly all the ills that afflict women are due to poor, thin blood. This anaemia is the one cause of low spirits and languidness, the poor appetite, breathlessness and aching backs that make life a burden for so many women. But suffering women could banish all these miseries by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for it is a known fact that these pills create an abundance of new rich blood — their wonderful reputation is based on that. Proof of these statements is given by Mrs. L. Deschenes, La Tuque, Que., who says: "Before I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was in a badly run down condition. I appeared to be almost bloodless, had frequent headaches, and the least exertion would leave me breathless and worn out. My husband advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got for me six boxes. Almost from the first I noticed an improvement in my condition, and as I continued taking the pills my blood became better and I steadily grew stronger, till today I am enjoying the best of health. I am now able to do all my housework without feeling the least fatigue; my appetite is better and I sleep more soundly at night. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I unhesitatingly recommend them to all who are run-down in health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at all drug stores or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Anyone with an eye for the curious twists of history must be interested in the fact that Primo De Rivera, ex-dictator of Spain, was kept alive for many years past by insulin, developed in the New World, which was discovered by a man financed by the Spanish Court, nearly four and a half centuries ago.

Canada's Forest Area

The total forest area of Canada is estimated to be 1,151,454 square miles. Of this area, 865,880 square miles are productive and accessible; a little over one third of this area bears timber of merchantable size; the remainder carries young growth not yet fit for use.

Boosting For Canada

Many Cities In Britain Have Held "Canada Week"

There has not been much said in Canadian newspapers about the city of Bristol's "Canada Week," and the event should have been taken more notice of than it was.

Bristol is a city of 400,000 people. It has just had a "Canada Week," which consisted of a campaign for the buying of goods made in Canada. Pages of newspaper advertising space, posters, window displays of Canadian merchandise, and other forms of publicity were given to our products, and the cumulative results must have meant the selling of many thuosands of dollars worth of goods, besides the value of introducing lines of Canadian goods to Bristol purchasers for the first time.

Glasgow, with a population of over a million, and several other big cities, have held "Canada Weeks," and Canada must have derived a large amount of permanent benefit from them.

Such gestures of good-will deserve the practical approval of Canadians. There is a great deal more boosting of Dominion products in Great Britain than there is of English products over here. The Empire Marketing Board spends about $5,000,000 on the promotion of the sale of Empire goods in the British Isles. We sell a vast quantity of merchandise over there, and then spend most of our money in buying United States' goods.

Canada will wait till the moon turns into cheese before a "Canada Week" is staged in one of the big cities over the border.

Major Developments In Canada's Air Mail Service Attracting Great Attention

Canada, with her vast area and widely scattered population, is advantageously situated to derive the greatest benefits from the development of internal air mail service. The great distances which separate the principal urban centres and the steady and broad-fronted advance in settlement and development serve to render postal communication by air peculiarly valuable in the Dominion. In addition, the Post Office Department of Canada has entered into a reciprocal arrangement with the United States postal authorities whereby Canada may take full advantage of the extensive United States air mail services connecting with points in Mexico, the West Indies, and Central and South America.

The establishment of Canada's official air post services is of comparatively recent date, but the conveyance of mail matter by air within Canada has been an actual fact for over ten years. In the early days of mail transportation by air, the Post Office Department, as a temporary measure, gave permission to the operating aviation companies to carry letters, entirely at the senders risk and subject to a small fee ranging from five cents to twenty-five cents per letter, in addition to the regular postage. This fee was retained by the operating company. The successful operation of numerous "sticker" services demonstrated beyond question the essential practicability of air mail transport in the Dominions, for these services were conducted in many cases under considerable operating difficulties although not on hard-and-fast schedules.

Civil aviation in Canada assumed proportions in 1927 which justified the Post Office Department in utilizing the facilities available for the fast transport of mails, not only to remote areas but between the larger centres of population. Services of the latter type had of course to be arranged on definite time schedules and this involved a much greater problem. As a beginning a service was inaugurated by which incoming British mails were taken from trans-Atlantic steamers and transported by air to Montreal, thus considerably hastening their delivery. Later, on October 1, 1928, a service of daily frequency was established bteween Montreal and Toronto, and on the same day an international air mail route was opened between Montreal, P.Q., and Albany, N.Y. On July 15, 1929, the Montreal-Toronto route was extended to Detroit, via Hamilton, London, and Windsor, Ontario, and thus a point of contact with the United States air mail routes westward was established, in addition to providing the most densely populated portion of Ontario with speedy air mail service. On the same date a still further connection with southern air mail routes was provided by the establishment of daily service between Toronto and Buffalo. Nothwithstanding the difficulties of operation in the Maritime Provinces — scarcity of suitable landing fields, densely wooded areas, broken country, and fog — the Postmaster-General inaugurated a service early in December, 1929, between Montreal, Quebec, Moncton, and Saint John.

The next major development in Canadian Air Mail Service was the inauguration of the trans-prairie route on March 3, 1930. Planes are now operating daily between Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, and Calgary, and between Regina, Saskatoon, North Battleford, and Edmonton on a schedule which clips a full twenty-four hours off the transcontinental movement of Canadian mails. This not only constitutes a marked advance towards the coast-to-coast service which is being developed link by link, but revolutionizes intercommunication between the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba.

It is in the outlying portions of the country, however, that the most valuable work of Canada's Air Mail Service has been carried out. Until recently the remote settlements along the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, on Anticosti and the Magdalen Islands in the gulf of St. Lawrence, and along the sub-arctic reaches of the Mackenzie River, have been almost cut off from the outside world during the winter months. Communication was necessarily by dog team and other primitive methods until the recent dramatic change to swift aeroplanes reduced the duration of mail trips from weeks to hours.

The establishment of contract air mail service in the Mackenzie River District—the most northerly of all air mail services—in December, 1929, attracted world-wide attention. The route from McMurray, down the Athabaska River, along the south shore of Great Slave Lake, and down the mighty Mackenzie River is nearly 1,100 miles long. Hitherto, in winter months, dog teams had been the sole means of conveyance and the volume of mail was correspondingly small being limited to letters and a few newspapers. The total amount for Aklavik in the winter of 1928-29 was less than two hundred pounds. Contrast this with the remarkable conditions obtaining on the advent of air mail facilities. Ten thousand pounds of mail were carried on the first flights—over a thousand pounds alone for Aklavik at the mouth of the Mackenzie. The chief remaining routes are those which penetrate the rich mining areas of Ontario and Manitoba, i.e., Red Lake, Kississing, and Bissett. They are the principal mineral areas served by air mail in Canada.

The development of flying fields and provision of lighting facilities, not to mention the constant improvements in aircraft which may be expected during the next few years, will undoubtedly do much to facilitate the performance of regular scheduled air mail services within Canada. Meanwhile the efficiency percentages maintained by the different operating companies are remarkably high. In addition to holding the world's record for speed over contract air mail lines, the Canadian service proudly boasts that it has never lost a single piece of mail out of the hundreds of tons that have been entrusted to it.

Mature Corn For Silage

Superiority Over Immature Corn Proved By Tests

The superiority of silage from mature over immature corn is clearly demonstrated by tests conducted at the Dominion Experimental Farm, at Brandon, Manitoba. In a series of tests in which a group of six cows were fed alternately, mature and immature corn silage, a marked increase in the volume of milk produced, and in respect to gain in bodily weight, was shown by the group fed mature corn silage. The relative feed values shown by laboratory tests are:—for mature corn 69.1 per cent. moisture content, 2.77 per cent. protein, .61 per cent. fat, 16.63 carbohydrates, 9.27 fibre, and 1.62 per cent. ash; for immature corn the moisture content was 82.6 per cent., protein 1.71 per cent., fat .91 per cent., carbohydrates 7.74, fibre 5.45, and ash 1.59 per cent.

Must Use Percentage Of Domestic Flour

Legislation Is In Force In Five European Countries

State legislation requiring millers to use a certain percentage of domestic flour in making of bread is in force in Germany, France, Spain, Switzerland and Portugal, states Hon. G. M. Gilett, secretary of the overseas trade department, in a written answer to a question in connection with the proposal that the British loaf should contain a statutory proportion of British-grown wheat flour.

The minimum in France is as high as 97 per cent. it is declared. In Spain the minimum is 5 per cent. No percentage is fixed in Switzerland and Portugal, but millers in those countries must take delivery of a certain quantity of native wheat.

Canadian National Parks, With Wonderful Scenic Beauty, Form a Great National Asset

The coming season promises to be one of great tourist activity so far as the national parks of Canada are concerned. Officials, both of the Department of the Interior and of the railways, report an unusually large number of requests for information and advance bookings. Large numbers of inquiries have also been received in the department from motorists in practically every section of Canada and the United States, and even from Mexico. The majority of these ask for the shortest routing to Canada's national parks, a description of the different attractions, the accommodations and particularly the facilities for camping.

A comparative analysis of the various applications shows that by all odds the strongest appeal of the parks is their scenic beauty and wilderness quality. An extract from one expresses the demand of many: "I want to visit the parks containing the prettiest mountain scenery, as I want to camp out in the wilderness, fish and go mountain climbing." Some of these letters reveal that the writers know almost nothing of Canadian geography. They have heard a rumour of the greatness of the national parks of Canada and they write to ask where they are and how they can get to them. Apparently it has come to be accepted in the minds of the travelling public the continent over that national parks represent the finest examples of magnitude, power, and beauty in natural scenery, in a setting of unspoiled primitive conditions, and their name is now sufficient guarantee of their attractiveness.

Visitors to the national parks come with varied needs, some seeking health, others mere recreation, but the majority are impelled by a desire for rest and freedom. Whether they realize it or not they are usually seeking a way of escape from the increasing complexity and routine of our highly mechanized competitive life into a world of peace, solitude, and inspiring beauty. In the face of the majestic grandeur of the Rockies, the enchanting loveliness of such places as Lake Louise, the Yoho Valley, Maligne Lake or Mount Robson, a man is lifted out of a pre-occupation with his purely personal problems into a kind of deeper satisfaction and healing of mind, passing, as has been said, "through wonder into joy."

This, in the final analysis, is perhaps the strongest appeal of the national parks. They supply something which answers to a universal craving, a hunger innate apparently in every human being and which must become more deeply felt as population increases and conditions of life on this continent grow more artificial and restricted. Already, the world over, there is a recognition that our present mechanical development may sweep original conditions everywhere away. That is, perhaps, one reason why the recent announcement of Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, that he hoped the time would soon come when there would be a national park in every province, has met with such wide approval. The more far-sighted of our people realize that the changes which will probably come about in Canada during the next hundred years will be enormous. While Canada is already leading the world in the reservation of areas for national parks, it is recognized that the needs of the future are sure to be great and that the time to set aside areas of natural beauty is now, while the land is still unoccupied and primitive conditions in many parts still undisturbed.

Visitors to the national parks last year reached over half a million people but this travel, large as it is, is only in its infancy. The creation of new parks such as the Riding Mountain park recently set aside in Manitoba, the extension and improvements of federal and provincial motor highways now under way will provide new stimuli for travel and, incidentally, bring in new wealth to the Dominion. Expenditure of visitors to the parks range from a few dollars a day to as high as $100 per day. One visitor to the Canadian West last year revealed that in addition to hotel and transportation expenses his party of four had spent $6,000 during a three weeks visit, most of it with retail firms. Every new park created becomes an addition to our capital stock and increases our power of attracting tourists. It helps to swell the prosperity of the railway and steamship companies, hotels, lodging houses, retail and wholesale merchants, and in fact spreads out so as to affect every trade and industry.

The name national park has come to stand for such a high degree of excellence that once an area is set aside as a park, travel tends to flow to it in ever-increasing volume. Both in the returns they can give in health and happiness and in actual economic results the national parks must become an increasing national asset.

FIRST AID SCHOOL ON WHEELS

With a view to extending adequate First Aid instruction to its employees in the outlying sections of the system, one of the three new First Aid cars which have just been completed for the Canadian National Railways has been placed in the Western Region for service.

Fully equipped and in charge of a competent instructor, the car will travel to outlying points, bringing courses of instruction to engine men and train men, agents and construction and maintenance of way men who have ordinarily no means of obtaining this knowledge. While their primary use is for instruction, they are, as well, travelling stations ready to assist in emergency, and are the first cars of this type to go into service on a railroad in Canada.

Establishing Training Centres For Criminals

English Prison Commission Plans To Train Men In Suitable Work

As part of the scheme to reclaim young criminals, the English prison commission will establish a series of training centres, the first of which will be at Nottingham, where men of a special class between the ages of 21 and 26 will be sent. The aim will be to train each man in the work for which he is best suited. The men will work eight hours a day.

Speaking of the scheme, an official of the prison commission said in an interview: "Probably we shall attach some of the men to the building parties and engineers. There will be physical training, and in the evenings educational pursuits."

Further the official said: "Criminals will not be sent to the training centre direct by order of the courts, but will graduate from the prison to the training centre."

(By Eva A. Tingey)

YOUTHFUL CHARM

All Tingey models are created and sketched in Paris and the patterns are made in New York.

Here's a darling frock for college girls and debutantes. It has a moulded bodice and softly flared skirt — a style adorable for slim young bodies. The collar and cuffs are charming too, easy to make and yet so fascinating when finished.

Flat silk crepe and wool crepe are lovely for this model, but another suitable and charming medium is marocain.

Imagine, for instance, soft green or scarlet marocain, with organdie ruffled with cream tinted valenciennes to match.

Another extremely pretty way of treating the collar and cuffs is to use organdie with ruffles of narrow matching ribbon. Sometimes this can be purchased with a tiny metal edge which makes a most attractive finish.

Of course a bought collar and cuff set can be worn with this model.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 14 to 20 and 34 to 39. It is ready for immediate delivery. It is hand cut.

Pattern price 25 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department.

One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 4

GIVING UP ALL FOR THE KINGDOM

Golden Text: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven." — Matthew 6.20.

Lesson: Matthew 19-1-29.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 8. 1-11.

Explanations and Comments

In Regard To Giving Up All For the Kingdom, verses 16-22.—And behold one, a ruler of the synagogue, as Luke tells us (18.18), came to Jesus with the question, "Teacher, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?" His question was a natural one, for the religious teachers, the rabbis, differed greatly among themselves in their teaching and their practice. "His coming must have been as welcome to Jesus as the visit of the mothers with their children; a man not belonging to the class of self-satisfied religionists of whom he had had ample experience; with moral ingenuousness, an open mind, and a good, honest heart; a malcontent, probably with the teaching and practice of the rabbis and scribes, coming to the anti-rabbinical Teacher in hope of hearing from Him something more satisfying.—A. B. Bruce.

"Why asketh thou Me concerning that which is good? One there is who is good," and to obey His will is to find your right course of action, was Jesus' answer. "But if thou wouldst enter into life, keep the commandments." Jesus further explained "Which?" very naturally questioned the young man, for besides the ten commandments there were many other laws given by Moses and a multitude given by the scribes. In answer, Jesus cited the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and fifth commandments of the Decalogue, all of them bearing upon one's treatment of others, and then added from Leviticus 19.18, "and, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." All these things have I observed: what lack I yet?" the young man returned in surprise. Dean Farrar voices the young man's thoughts: "Surely the Great Teacher to whom I have come seeking for some great thing to do, or secret thing to know, cannot possibly give His answer that I am to keep these old, simple, elementary Ten Commandments, which I have known ever since I lisped them at my mother's knee! He must mean something far beyond that." Dean Farrar comments: "It was exactly like the child in the poem who, having been talked to continually about the glory and majesty of the sea, and being led to the seaside said, 'Is that the mighty ocean? Is that all?'"

"If thou wouldst be perfect, go, sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor," answered Jesus. This was the one thing necessary for this man to do, for between him and the love of God, as well as between him and the love of his neighbor, stood the love of possessions, "For he was rich."

BIG INDUSTRIES MAY LOCATE IN COAST PROVINCE

Vancouver, B.C.—Three major industries are making extensive investigation with the object of establishing in British Columbia, and one of them — one which would mean the building of a very large industrial plant—is almost certain to decide in favor of this province, according to Premier S. F. Tolmie, who passed through Vancouver en route to Victoria after a visit to Eastern Canada.

The premier's visit to Ottawa convinced him that the International Sockeye Salmon Treaty will be passed at the present sitting of the Dominion Parliament providing amendments which may be made by the United States are satisfactory.

The premier said that the Dominion Government will investigate the Yukon section of the proposed Alaska Highway. Premier Tolmie finds that British Columbia owes a debt to the members of the Australian lumber delegation, whom he met in Ottawa. There is much evidence he said, of the thoroughness with which they did their work.

While in Ottawa the premier took up the matter of the five-year census for British Columbia. The prairie provinces enjoy this at present and he feels that British Columbia would benefit from the same provision. He promised to pursue the matter further.

C.N.R. To Be Reconstructed

Endorsement Of Amalgamation Of All Companies Is Expected

Ottawa, Ont.—The reconstruction of the financial structure of the Canadian National Railways will be started from this session of parliament with the passage of a bill to amalgamate into one corporate body all the various companies which now make up the C.N.R. Intimation to this effect came from the Department of Railways and Canals. It is not epected, however, that the further steps of consolidating the various bond issues and otherwise reorganizing the whole financial structure will be proceeded with this year.

The bill to consolidate the companies, it is believed, will not be contentious and will go through with little discussion; but to deal with the financial structure would take a great deal of time, even if the preparations were far enough advanced, which includes consent of the various bond-holders. If there is to be a general election this year, legislation taking up so much time would likely find the going difficult.

Two Vancouver Teachers Drowned

One Sacrificed Life In Attempt To Rescue Friend

North Vancouver, B.C. — J. A. Hyndman, Vancouver, and F. E. Lothian, Vancouver, teachers in Carleton school, Vancouver, perished in Lynn Creek before the eyes of 18 girl pupils they had taken for a mountain hike.

Mr. Lothian sacrificed his life in a gallant attempt to save his friend.

The party had reached Second Canyon and Mr. Lothian safely crossed the large log that serves as a bridge, when Mr. Hyndman lost his balance halfway across and fell into the boiling current.

Without hesitation, Mr. Lothian plunged into the swollen creek, but failed to reach his friend, before both were swept over the falls and perished.

Bar Indentured Goods

Washington, D.C.—All foreign competitive goods made by forced or indentured labor would be barred from entry into the United States under a compromise reached by congressional conference on the tariff bill.

Starts New Air Service

New York, N.Y.—Still blazing new air trails, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has inaugurated the new trans-Carib-Airways by making a dawn-to-dusk flight from Havana to Cristobal, Canal Zone.

Parachute Saves Aviator

'Plane Crashed From Great Height At Sacramento, Cal.

Sacramento, Cal.— Lieut. I. A. Woodring, 95th Pursuit Squadron, Rockwell Field, San Diego, leaped to safety with his parachute when his 'plane crashed on Mather Field from a height of 2,000 feet during a "dog fight."

Captain H. M. Elmendorf and Lieut. Woodring had withdrawn from the pursuit formation flying in review to stage an aerial combat. Suddenly something was seen to fly off Woodring's 'plane, and at the same instant the flyer leaped from the cockpit. He floated to the field uninjured. The plane crashed within 200 feet of the spot where the pilot landed.

Lieut. Woodring was pilot of the 'plane which, in the summer of 1927, was in fatal collision with that of Lieut. Thad Johnson, as the latter missed his landing at Uplands Field, Ottawa, at the end of a flight as part of the escort to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who flew to the Canadian capital to take part in the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation.

Johnson jumped as Woodring's propeller smashed the tail assembly of his machine, but he was too close to the ground and his parachute failed to open.

Australia Wants Native Viceroy

Chief Justice Of High Court Has Been Recommended For Office

London, Eng.—The old and much disputed question of whether the British dominions should have governors-general of their own nationality is likely to be settled once and for all by Australia's demand that the successor to Lord Stonehaven should be an Australian.

Sir Isaac A. Isaacs, chief justice of the Australian high court, has been recommended as the Commonwealth's next governor-general, and although the dominions office here is silent, it is understood that a precedent in this connection will probably be established.

Sydney, Australia.—Addressing the first annual meeting of the new Australian party, Rt. Hon. William Morris Hughes, Maritime Prime Minister of Australia, and its leader, said it did not matter to the partywho governed Australia so long as it was governed well. Therefore the Australian party would support good government wherever they found it. He had some criticism, however, for the recent government of Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, declaring its only remedy for financial depression was reduction of wages.

Noted Soldier Dead

Sir Gordon Guggisberg Served Empire In Many Ways

London, Eng.—Few men have had a more versatile career or a greater variety of Empire service than Sir Gordon Guggisberg, noted soldier and colonial administrator, whose death here came as a shock to official circles. Sir Gordon had been governor of British Guiana since 1928. He was 60 years of age and Canadian-born, his birthplace being Toronto.

Sir Gordon Guggisberg had a distinguished career in the war and before and after the war served his king in the east, in Africa and in South America. Sir Gordon was a graduate of the Royal Military College at Woolwich, and while military promotion was for a long time a slow matter for Gordon Guggisberg, in this he suffered what was but the inevitable lot of most peace time soldiers.

Japanese Royalty Starts Tour

Yokohama, Japan.—Japan's Imperial newlyweds, Prince and Princess Takamatsu, sailed from this port, aboard the "Kashima Maru," for Europe, on a honeymoon, which will last over a year, and will encircle the globe. They will visit most of the courts of Europe and will spend ten days in Canada, probably before sailing for home, from some Pacific port, around May 1, 1931.

FRENCH MOTOR EXPERT

Athlete From West Again In Limelight

Ethel Catherwood Training For Sports' Event In Toronto

Toronto, Ont.—After a long lay-off Ethel Catherwood, from Saskatoon, who set the athletic world talking when she came out of the west three years ago, is resuming her high jumping activities shortly. The holder of the girls' world's record of five feet three inches, made at the 1928 Olympic games, has jumped at a meet only once since her return from Amsterdam, and then only gave an exhibition at the Coliseum in the following February. Last summer she spiked herself while training and the injury was long in healing, keeping her out of all the meets. She will give a special exhibition at the Shriners' sports in June. Walter Knox and "Ab" Chilcott will look after her training at Hampden Park.

Canadian Prisons Fireproof

Ohio Disaster Could Not Happen Here Says Superintendent

Ottawa, Ont.—"Positively impossible," was the comment of General W. St. Pierre Hughes, superintendent of penitentiaries here, when asked if a fire such as destroyed the Ohio state institution with the loss of more than 300 lives could happen in any Canadian penitentiary. "Our institutions," said General Hughes, "are entirely fireproof."

All the cell blocks in the Canadian penitentiaries were fire-proof, he said.

France Denies Report

Paris.—Information appearing in newspapers of foreign countries to the effect that France would build a new cruiser of 27,000 tons, armed with eight guns of 12-inch calibre, has been officially denied.

King May Appoint New Poet Laureate

Successor To Dr. Robert Bridges Not Yet Named

London, Eng.—The literary and the ordinary public too are wondering who will be the next poet laureate, or if indeed there will be any successor to Dr. Robert Bridges. The question of whether his honorary position would lapse was raised after the death of Lord Tennyson, and Tennyson's successor, Austin, was not appointed until Tennyson had been dead four years.

Lord Tennyson, who died in 1892, was the last poet who actually performed in any measurable degree the direct duty of the poet laureate, namely, the writing of a poem or ode when the monarch was buried with anything of extra moment. The day for writing poetry at the king's command has, of course, long since gone.

But it is likely that His Majesty, after a reasonable interval will, on the advice of the prime minister, confer the title of poet laureate upon some scholarly man of verse and thereby continue this special royal recognition of poetry, which began as early as the days of Chaucer, who received an allowance of wine from the King's wine butts.

French Flier Honored

Notable Figures In Aviation Attend Funeral In New York

New York, N.Y.—Representatives of the French Government and notable figures in the field of aviation, including Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, paid their last respects to Count Henri de la Vaulx, president of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, who was killed in an accident at Jersey City, N.J.

While aeroplanes circled in formation overhead, the Rev. Theophine Wucher conducted a requiem mass in the French church of St. Vincent de Paul. Then the body was removed to the French line pier to sail on the "De Grasse" for the dead aviator's native land.

Aliens Risk Death To Reach States

Caught By Officers After Crossing Niagara River Above Rapids

Niagara Falls, N.Y.—Crossing the Niagara river in a frail boat, a short distance above the entrance to the treacherous whirlpool rapids, four aliens braved death in their attempt to enter the United States illegally. The aliens were caught by immigration border patrolman after they ascended the 200-foot bank of the gorge by means of an iron ladder that runs down a steep cliff, but the runner who had transported them escaped.

Looking For Honors

Geneva.—Venezuela representative at the League of Nations headquarters here asked that his country should have next turn in supplying the president of the league. His request was referred for decision to the next session of the league council.

One Day Old, but Lively

Every spring millions of baby chicks go out from the British Columbia coast and Vancouver Island to the interior of the province and the Prairie Provinces. Hatched earlier on the milder Pacific slopes than elsewhere in Canada, they are rushed by Express across the country to poultry breeders inland. Taken when they are but one day old, they are placed in cardboard boxes with breathing holes punched in them, and loaded into express cars kept at just the right temperature for their benefit. They can go 72 hours without food or water. Above package has just been landed at Vancouver, and is being examined prior to train shipment. According to officials of the Canadian Pacific Express Company which annually handles millions of these fluffy balls, the traffic is growing steadily from year to year.

TREATY SIGNED BY DELEGATES OF FIVE POWERS

London, Eng.—The "London naval treaty of 1930" was signed by the delegates of the five powers in St. James Palace, and the conference opened by King George V., three months ago adjourned.

A few hours later the U.S. delegates entrained for Southampton and boarded the "Leviathan," which waited a day for them and in which they sailed for home. The French and Italian delegates departed for Paris and Rome respectively, after the signing ceremonies were over.

The full text of the treaty was officially made public at the moment when Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson sat in an old state chair covered in red velvet and appended the first signature to the Morocco-bound document opposite a red seal with a blue ribbon attached. It contains nothing not exhaustively discussed previously in these and other despatches.

The 92-day-old conference began its sixth and final plenary session in a dignified, almost sombre mood which was maintained during half an hour of oratory. But at the end the veteran French statesman, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, exercising all his famous charm, wit and good nature, brought the delegates, their advisors and the hundred correspondents who filled Queen Anne's drawing room to their feet laughing and applauding as he solemnly transferred from "the collective ownership of the conference to the private ownership of our chairman, Monsieur MacDonald," a gold pen presented for the treaty's signature.

Received By King George

Canadian Minister To France Has Interview At Windsor Castle

London, Eng.—Canada's minister to France, Hon. Phillipe Roy, was received by the King at Windsor Castle, where he spent 20 minutes chatting with His Majesty, mostly about Canada.

"I was surprised at the health and vigor of the King," Mr. Roy said after the interview. "I was formerly a doctor and thus able to judge. I think the King is in better health than he has been for many years."

Mr. Roy told His Majesty that the first time he saw him was when he (Roy) was a student at Laval University in Montreal in 1891 and the King an officer on a British ship then visiting Canada.

The Canadian minister has seen King George on several occasions since, but this was the first opportunity of speaking to him since his appointment as Canadian minister in Paris.

Coming To Canada

British National Union Sending Party Of Farmers On Tour

London, Eng.—The British National Union, it is announced, is arranging to send a party of farmers to tour Canada during August and September. There had been a great deal of talk lately of British agriculture being "behind the times," and it is hoped the interchange of ideas which will result from the visit may be of value to the party while it is possible they may also be able to give some counsel on certain problems of the soil with which those of the homeland have had more experience than the farmers of the new world.

"I wonder who wove you," she mused dreamily. "You must have seemed almost a part of him as the weeks passed and he saw your loveliness unfold. Did he dread the finishing of his task, I wonder, knowing that at its end he must give you up forever? And did he know that when he was only a memory his work would live, cherished by some one thousands of miles from its own birthplace?"

She stooped, to brush a hand over the silky surface.

"I think you were woven on an old, old loom," she murmured. "You were, perhaps, the only beautiful thing in some humble room. I think that little children watched you grow, and touched you with small, reverent fingers. I think . . . ."

Charmian stiffened, suddenly conscious that a shadow was lying across the rich wine color of the old rug; and the blood flew to her cheeks as she saw Jim Bennett in the doorway. Then she sprang up, laughing, in real confusion.

"How long have you been there, listening to me go on like that?" she asked.

Jim grinned:

"Not long enough to be called an intentional eavesdropper; but long enough to wonder—"

"Wonder what?" urged Charmian as he paused.

"If you'd gone dotty—making such passionate love to an inanimate object. Is it something new?"

"New!" echoed Charmian in amazement. "Can't you see with a single glance that it's ages old? Oh, Jim! wouldn't it be wonderful to furnish a home with beautiful things like this? Why, just to walk on it seems a—a profanation."

"In that case," commented Jim, seating himself on a corner of the doctor's desk, "I don't know as 'Home, Sweet Home' would be a real comfortable retreat. If a feller got hollered at every time he happened to step on a rug that was in the way—well, you're right, Charmian, the air would be liable to become charged with something related to profanation!"

Charmian laughed. Then her eyes grew troubled, and she questioned: "But you like it, don't you, Jim? You see its beauty?"

The young man, sensing that this question was a serious matter to the girl, looked down at the rug thoughtfully, then up at the window hangings—at the candlesticks upon the mantel, and at last came back to the anxious eyes of his old playmate.

"Yes, I like it, Charmian; but I was wondering if what pleased me wasn't, maybe, just the whole thing. It looks like you, somehow — this room, I mean. That's why I like it. I suppose," he added honestly, "if you were to hang ten-cent muslin at the windows, and put an American rug with a blue dog in the middle of it like Lizzie Baker's, on the floor, I'd think it was all right because you said so. In some ways, Charmian, I'm a damn fool."

The girl laughed, though she was secretly touched; and asked: "What brings you out this hour of the morning?"

"A trip over beyond South Wickfield, to see about a mortgage for the bank. Thought you might go with me. It's a bully day."

"So it is," she replied regretfully, with a second longing glance toward the open door, "but I've just refused to go with the two M.D.'s because of an extra lot of duties."

"Let 'em wait a day longer. If I could cut out one of those M.D.'s I'd see a ray of light in the surrounding gloom."

"Better take your mother," suggested Charmian, making an unsuccessful effort to suppress a smile.

"She can't go. I—"

"So I'm second fiddle? I wonder, Jim, will any girl ever be anything else to you."

Instantly, Charmian would have given worlds to recall those words. A look sprang into Jim Bennett's face that brought back an almost forgotten memory—the same look that had swept over his countenance when as a small boy he had been reproved by the teacher because . . .

In a flash the whole scene came back to her: the old schoolroom with its familiar odor born of chalk and much-thumbed books—Jim, back at his desk for the first time since his father's funeral—the class standing to read, "O Captain, my Captain," and a cruel fate bringing to the boy's turn those words:

"My Captain does not answer,
his lips are pale and still,
My father does not feel my arm,
he has no pulse or will . . ."

And Jim, white-faced, thin-lipped, had refused to read! He had been sent home in disgrace, carrying a sharp reprimand from a teacher who saw in the defiant pupil only an unruly little boy. It was Charmian Davis who opened her eyes to the true state of things, when, as the doors closed behind the white-faced culprit, she had burst into a passion of sympathetic tears.

"Don't you see," she sobbed. "he—he couldn't read it without crying? . . . . His own father . . . . only the other day . . . . And he couldn't cry right before the whole school, could he? So . . . . so . . . ."

Be it said for the teacher that she cried herself, when brought face to face with her own thoughtlessness. Later she told Grandma Davis that she had received a lesson she never could forget. And now, years afterward, the scene came back to Charmian with fresh poignancy, and she knew that, somehow, she had hurt the grown-up Jim in the same way he had been hurt on that long-gone day when the teacher misunderstood: Was it possible that she, too, misunderstood him?

Jim, who had thrown his hat on the doctor's desk, reached for it, and, ignoring her careless words, started toward the door. But Charmian, always quick to acknowledge a mistake, barred the way, and the surprised young man felt her hand slip into his.

"Jimmy, I hurt you, didn't I? I don't know what made me such a beast. Just for that I'm going to drop everything and go to ride with you. John Carter can eat cold beans this noon, for all I care! Just wait till I tell Grandma, and—"

Jim laughed, a queer, choky little laugh that she knew came hard.

"Don't be an idiot!" he said. "You haven't hurt me, Charmian; and I won't have you going just for that reason. Honestly, I don't want you to go now. I've got things to mull over in my mind, and you're a disturbing influence. Run along and get your work done. I'm all right."

"But I'm not," smiled the girl. She was gently propelling him out of the doctor's office and toward the house. "I feel the need of air and sunshine, and it's your duty to see that I get both. You talk with Grandma while I set the dinner table, so I won't feel so hurried to get back."

She was away, leaving him standing at the door of the old parlor where Grandma Davis was keeping her accustomed vigil.

"Hello, sonny," she greeted him. "What you doing away from the bank this time o' day?"

"Running down some interest money," explained Jim. "I've persuaded Charmian that it's too good a day to waste indoors."

"So 'tis," agreed the old lady, "and a ride'll do her a lot of good. I'm hoping maybe she'll get out more often when Doctor Carter gets the car he's ordered. It'll be real natural for him to take her when he rides off in the country, won't it?"

"Too darn natural," replied Jim; then, to change the subject: "What's been happening on Broadway this morning, Grandma?"

"You mean Main Street? Well, I'll admit I've seen things more lively than they've been today; but Lizzie Baker lost her seersucker petticoat right on the sidewalk, and had to step out of it and scurry home. It was worth considerable to see that."

"Gosh! I'll say it was!"

Jim laughed so heartily that Charmian, setting the table in the room beyond, breathed a sigh of relief, and called: "What's happened? Is it so funny?"

"It wasn't funny for Lizzie Baker," replied Grandma. "You leave that table, dearie. If you're late back the doctor can set it himself; and you musn't keep Jim waiting. There's nothing irritates a man like being kept waiting."

"The table's set; and I won't keep him waiting a minute longer. Ready, Jim?"

He nooded, rising slowly as if reluctant to take his eyes from the picture the girl made as she waited, with the dusky hall as a background for her blue gown. A pink scarf across her arm added a splash colour that matched her cheeks; and if the young man had been slow to appreciate the beauty of an oriental rug, he was certainly not slow to appreciate the charm of his old playmate.

"Where's your hat?" asked Grandma. "You're not going clear to South Wickfield without a hat!"

Charmian laughed.

"I most surely am! After the gorgeous greenness that Jim's accustomed to, I'd be ashamed of—"

"Shucks!" broke in Grandma. "Your old black straw with the pink roses is enough sight prettier than that—that—"

Words failed her, and the two young people laughed as Jim responded: "Don't worry, Grandma. She doesn't need a hat—not with all that 'woman's crowning glory' to keep off the draughts. Come on, Charmian. We'll have to break the speed laws if I get you back in time to cook dinner for your boarder."

"Don't you do any reckless driving," warned Grandma, as they moved away. "I'm not so feeble that I can't start dinner if you're late. If you go past the Bascombs' you stop and get that mail order catalogue I lent to Emmy. She's liable to forget to return it."

Little Helps For This Week

"Giving thanks always for all things."—Ephesians 5, 20.

Whatso it be, howso it be, Amen!
Blessed it is believing not to see:
Now God knows all that is; and we shall then—
Whatso it be!
God's will is best for man, whose will is free;
God's will is better to us, yea, than ten Desires, whereof He holds and weighs the key—
He knows all want, allots each where and when— e
Whatso it be!
—Christina G. Rossetti.

Thou alone knowest what is good for me; Thou alone art Lord of all; do therefore what seemeth to Thee best. Give to me or take from me; conform my will to Thine; and grant that with humble and perfect submission and in holy reverence I may be disposed to receive the orders of Thy eternal providence, and may equally adore every dispensation which shall come to me from Thy Hand.—Pascal.

Using Automatic Pilots

British 'Planes Make Long Flights With Robot Control

The entire squadron of British night bombing aeroplanes, fitted with "robot" electrical controls, has flown continuously as far as 400 miles without human pilots taking charge. Routes from South England to Scotland have been followed, with automatic pilots, actuated by radio from the ground, in complete charge, and the aeroplanes brought safely to a predetermined destination. The automatic landing is accomplished by means of a weighted wire, which, as soon as it comes in contact with the aerodrome, causes the aeroplane to "flatten out" and glide in with the engine throttle back.

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying a reliable remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Idea Is Alright

But People Should Build Foundation Under Air Castles

"If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the props under them," said Henry David Thoreau. Helen Keller says we cannot always realize our ideals, but we can always realize our realities, and our ideas must be practical if we are to make a religion of them and live by them. Phillips Brooks expressed a high ideal in these words: "We reduce life to the pettiness of our daily living. We should exalt our living to the grandeur of life."

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Prize For Wheat

The Saskatoon Board of Trade is offering a prize of $350 to the farmer in the district who produces the best wheat to be exhibited at the next winter fair.

Alberta's Veteran Politician.

Mr Daniel Brox, the well known statesman and veteran of many political campaigns, was quite pleased to hear that his prediction of an early appeal to the people by the Brownlee Government, had come true. Mr Brox, who is in constant communication with other members of the Liberal Executive, says all the signs at present point to the defeat of the present government in power, when the ballots are counted next month; but that this will only be accomplished after hard work done in the campaign which is now about to start. Dan admits that there is the possibility of some Liberals winning by small majorities, but that this will be offset by the sweeping majorities the other candidates will roll up in the Liberal strongholds.

Canada's Trans-Atlantic Challenger

While her builders maintain secrecy as to her engines, the new Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" is hailed by newspapers in the Old Country as a challenger in the Atlantic speed race. The London Daily Chronicle declares that "she will prove a formidable rival of the Bremen, and in any case will set up a new Atlantic speed record, for the journey from Southampton to Quebec will be made in five days or less."

So far the Canadian Pacific has made no claims for the new liner beyond the statement that she will bring Canada one and a half days nearer to England and will be the most luxurious liner on the seven seas.

Every first class cabin is to be an outside room with natural light and air and the room without bath attached will be unusual. Other ways in which the $15,000,000 the new ship is costing will be spent includes two stages fully equipped for theatrical performances, Turkish baths, swimming pool, squash racket court (the first on an ocean liner), full size tennis court on sports deck, beauty parlours, violet ray installations and a series of public rooms designed and decorated by prominent members of the Royal Academy.

Now building in Scotland, the Empress of Britain will enter service early in 1931. The sixteenth vessel of a building programme totalling 215,000 tons launched in a three year period, the Empress of Britain is designed to accommodate 1,100 passengers in First, Tourist Third and Third classes. A comparison of her tonnage of 40,000 with the 20,000 gross registered tonnage of the "Duchess" class which accommodates 1,600 passengers, indicates the lengths to which the company has gone to make spaciousness an outstanding feature of the accommodation.

In addition to her position as Speed Queen of the St. Lawrence route to and from Europe, the Empress of Britain will have the distinction of being the largest liner making round the world cruises, achieving this by the comfortable margin of 8,000 tons.
